FINDING AID OF COLLECTIONS

Updated June 2024

Mission Statement and Access Policy

Developed by Antonia S. Mattheou, Archivist

The Manhasset Public Library History Center collects preserves
and provides access to records related to the area's history since it was first settled on December 13, 1643. Records kept in the History Center should be at least ten (10) years old and should contain historical information about Manhasset's past - information that is essential when charting current and future activities.

Material housed in the Manhasset History Center should be used by individuals engaged in historical research and education. For a detailed description of the records, see the finding aid for each collection.

RECORDS ACCESS POLICY

These rules are designed to protect the archival records managed by the Manhasset History Center and assure that they will be available for future use. Basic collection descriptions are available on the library's website and printouts from the database are available upon request.

Staff and Consultants

The staff of the Manhasset Public Library can have access to the archival records during the conduct of their daily work in order to provide assistance to patrons. Permission from the Director should be given before access is granted. For Library staff members interested in a particular subject for reasons of a different nature -- for example, research for graduate work-- the access policy for outside researchers applies. Volunteers can have access to the archival collections and the History Center only while assisting the Archivist or a Library staff member. The Center should remain locked at all times. Keys should be kept in the Director's office and by the staff member on duty.

Outside Researchers

Access to records by outside researchers is at the discretion of the Archivist who consults with the Library Director when questions arise. All records are available upon completion of the appropriate forms, unless they are very fragile.

Material requested by researchers is reviewed by the staff before being given to the researcher in order to inspect the physical condition of the records. A staff person should be available to provide assistance and to discuss research requirements. The more complex the project, the more important it is that there is a clear understanding of what information is needed and why is needed.

Permission to study the records is not authorization to publish. Such authorization must be requested in writing, and approval must be obtained.

Protection of Materials

Archival documents do not circulate. They can be viewed at the library. Patrons must leave their driver's license with the staff member on duty while using archival material.

Security

Because of the irreplaceable and often fragile nature of many of our materials, both staff and users have the obligation to preserve them for future use. Persons unwilling to cooperate in protecting materials may be asked to leave and may be denied access in the future.

Users are asked to store coats, briefcases, and other personal possessions not essential to their work by the entrance of the History Center. Materials requested are to be used only in the History Center area and the quantity of materials examined at any one time may be limited. Materials are issued for the exclusive use of the person requesting them and should be returned to staff when research has been completed.

Handling

All materials must be handled with great care. Users of original materials are expected to take notes in pencil, unless special permission has been received for other arrangements. Materials should be kept flat on the reading table; nothing (including elbows) should be placed on them; and pencils must be kept well away. It is the user's responsibility to maintain the existing order of materials being examined; the staff should be notified promptly of any apparent disarrangement. Smoking, eating, and drinking are not permitted in the History Center.

Photocopying/scanning

In most cases, photocopying or scanning must be performed with staff oversight. A fee might apply. Requests for photocopying and scanning are normally fulfilled within one working day, subject to staff availability and condition of equipment. Materials can be photocopied and scanned unless very fragile or difficult to handle.

WARNING CONCERNING COPYRIGHT RESTRICTIONS

Adherence to copyright law is the responsibility of the researcher.

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code), governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material. Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries, including the Manhasset History Center, are authorized to furnish a photocopy or other reproduction. One of these specified conditions is that the photocopy or reproduction is not to be "used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research." If a user makes a request for, or later uses, a photocopy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," that user may be liable for copyright infringement.

The Manhasset Public Library History Center reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying orders if, in its judgment, fulfillment of the order would involve violation of copyright law. A researcher should consult with the staff of this library for further information on copyright law and how it applies to his/her research.
